Road Measures May be Lumped In Omnibus Bill

Knowles' Move Would Prevent Piecemeal Action

MADISON (AP) — The highway safety proposals of Gov. Warren P. Knowles are likely to be lumped into one omnibus bill for the bumpy ride through the 1967 Legislature.

Administration strategists indicated Friday the package approach was favored to try to prevent the more controversial portions of the program from being imperiled by exposure to heated debate and dispute.

The omnibus bill is expected to be introduced in the Senate about Jan. 31.

Knowles asked for a sweeping assault on deadly driving in a special address to the Legislature Tuesday in the wake of a record 1,119 traffic fatalities in Wisconsin last year.

He revived such proposals as automatic intoxication tests for drunken driving suspects, a uniform minimum age for drinking set at 21, required annual vehicle inspections, and mandatory drivers' education for motorists under 18 — all measures rejected by the 1965 Legislature.

The current strategy calls for the approximately 20 proposals to be bunched in one bill. It would place lawmakers in a position of having to vote either for or against highway safety as a whole.

The strategy is based also on the proposition that it will make it easier to focus public opinion and support on a single, sweeping bill than on a set of 20 or more.

With various Republican leaders voicing reluctance in the past toward some of the more controversial ideas such as the "implied consent" intoxication tests, the bill probably will go to the Senate first.

The approach is anchored in the thought that the package then would reach the Assembly with the prestige of having already won passage in one house.

It also could be returned to a Senate-Assembly conference committee to revive various proposals should the Assembly strip some of the ideas from the package.

Ky Gets Warm Sydney Welcome

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — South Vietnamese Premier Nguyen Cao Ky received a favorable reception today as he arrived in Sydney on his tour of Australia and New Zealand to thank the people for their aid to South Vietnam.

Possible in 1 1/2 Years, General Says

Chief of Staff Eyes Withdrawals

FT. BENNING, Ga. (AP) — The Army chief of staff says withdrawal of major U.S. military units from Vietnam may be possible within 1 1/2 to 2 1/2 years because enemy strength is being broken down into small units that could be contained by smaller American units.

Gen. Harold K. Johnson said, however, that he is not optimistic the fighting will end in that time span. He said the war with Viet Cong terrorists "may last up to eight years."

Johnson spoke Thursday to more than 1,000 infantry officers, many of them Vietnam veterans undergoing staff training here. At that time his speech was classified by the Army. It was released for publication by Ft. Benning Friday.

On the air war, one captain in the training group asked Johnson why the United States did not step up its bombing of North Vietnam to win the war.

"Win?" Johnson replied. "Leveling cities? What did we win in World War II? We won an opportunity to turn around and pay for helping reconstruct something we spent three years destroying. This is what this so-called unconditional victory means, a chance to help pay for what you destroy."

Johnson said the mass operations of U.S. troops in South Vietnam had forced the Viet Cong to break their units down into smaller forces and smaller American forces "are breaking even with them."

But he said even smaller enemy terrorist groups "are assassinating 30 people a week. They're getting ahead of us."

The four-star general said there will be few operations in the war as big as Operation

Cedar Falls, the largest U.S. sweep of the war which he said involved 26 battalions.

Johnson said the operation was so big that Defense Department reports of 144 Americans killed in action last week meant an average of only one man lost per battalion per day.

Johnson said also that the United States is in good shape for military manpower and that he sees no need for a reserve callup.

Elaborating on the air war, Johnson said England did not quit in World War II because it was bombed by Germany and that Germany and Japan did not quit fighting because they were bombed.

"And what are you going to bomb if you start bombing industry?" Johnson asked. "One steel plant and one fertilizer plant. That's the industry they have in Vietnam."

No. 2 Man Quoted by Red Guard

TOKYO (AP) — A Japanese dispatch from Peking quoted Defense Minister Lin Piao today as saying all of Red China "now is in a state of civil war." At the same time high-ranking navy and air force officials were reported as being denounced as reactionaries and plotters.

Lin is believed to be No. 2 man in the Chinese Communist Party hierarchy under Chairman Mao Tse-tung.

The correspondent of the Tokyo newspaper Yomiuri said Lin's statement on civil war appeared without confirmation on one of the thousands of wall bulletins which have turned the Chinese capital into a paper and ink city.

Lin, 59, is in the forefront of the battle to oust President Liu Shao-chi and restore to Mao the position of state power he once held.

Commisar Overthrow

Japanese dispatches also reported these developments:

Wall posters also told of a demand for the overthrow of Su Chen-hua, political commissar at navy headquarters and a member of the Defense Council. Su was accused of being a follower of the anti-Mao line and the "chief plotter of a coup d'etat attempted by Deputy Premier Ho Lung."

Another wall poster quoted Mao's wife, Chiang Ching, as

All Nine Airmen Perished in Crash

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP) — Air Force investigators today probed the wreckage of a KC135 jet tanker that crashed in the foothills of Mt. Spokane with the loss of nine airmen.

The tanker, which the Air Force said may have been blown off course by gale force winds, failed to clear a small hill and crashed Thursday night.

It had begun a landing approach for its home field, Fairchild Air Force Base, after a flight from Hawaii on which it was escorting a group of Air Force jet fighters back to the United States.

Republicans Split On Tax Increase

All Insist on Spending Cuts In LBJ Budget

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional Republicans, united in demanding spending cuts, appear divided on making a party issue of opposition to President Johnson's proposed tax increase.

No GOP leader has said flatly that under no circumstances he would support a tax increase. But two camps appear to be forming—one taking a hard-line, the other a more flexible attitude toward Johnson's proposed 6 per cent surcharge on corporate and most individual income taxes.

House GOP Leader Gerald R. Ford has come as close as any to outright opposition to a tax increase.

Rep. John W. Byrnes of Wisconsin said in an interview, "I haven't taken a position adamantly one way or the other."

As senior Republican member of the Ways and Means Committee, Byrnes is considered the party's chief spokesman in the House on tax matters.

Byrnes said he does not believe Ford's statements amount to opposition to a tax increase under all conditions. In any case, he added, no party position has been taken.

It was learned, however, that some Republicans have been suggesting to Ford that too rigid a stance now could be embarrassing later if, after the budget is worked over, Congress still must choose between a tax boost and an unacceptably large deficit.

Regents Fire President of U of California

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — President Clark Kerr of the mammoth University of California, who was fired Friday by the Board of Regents, blames partisan politics for the startling move that sent shock waves through the state.

Republican Gov. Ronald Reagan, an ex-officio regent, and Mrs. Randolph Hearst, a regent and wife of the newspaper magnate, said the vote came after Kerr demanded a vote of confidence during the regents' debate over university budget cuts and imposition of tuition, which Reagan wanted and Kerr opposed.

In a closed session at which Kerr was not present, regents voted 14 to 8 after a "fierce fight" to immediately oust Kerr from his $45,000-a-year job as head of the nine-campus, 87,000-student university. He had been UC president since 1958.

Program Would Cost Billions

Soviet Interest Seen in ABM Ban

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department indicates the Soviet Union may be interested in avoiding a race toward a new antiballistic missile — ABM — system that could cost billions of dollars.

"The department has no reason to believe that the Soviets are not seriously considering the President's expressed interest in halting an antiballistic missiles arms race," a spokesman said Friday.

In his State of the Union Message, President Johnson reported that the Soviet Union "has begun to place near Moscow a limited antimissile defense" and added that "we have the duty to slow down the arms race between us."

Urges Beginning

Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., a member of the Senate Armed Services Committee, said Friday the United States should begin work on a $5 billion, limited ABM system if an effective ABM ban cannot be worked out.

Jackson, who said the necessary appropriation could be taken up by the committee when it begins its annual military hearings Monday, told a news conference he doubted whether Johnson could negotiate an ABM ban with the Soviets.

He said Moscow historically is defense-minded and, in addition, now is worried about possible Red Chinese atomic attacks.

But State Department press officer Robert J. McCloskey said the new U.S. ambassador to Moscow, Llewellyn E. Thompson, has taken a Johnson message to Soviet leaders. The message is believed to include a plea to curb the prospective ABM rivalry.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara has resisted deployment of an ABM system which Pentagon experts estimate could cost $30 billion or more. McNamara believes no antimissile system yet devised is sufficiently effective. He has stressed maintaining a strong offensive capability.

New Orleans Police Told to Eat Faster

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — Police Supt. Joseph Giarrusso has chopped 10 minutes off his men's lunch break, leaving New Orleans policemen only 20 minutes to eat.

"It's hard enough to gulp down your lunch in 30 minutes," one veteran officer said Friday after the order went out over the police network. "Now, we'll hardly have time to eat a hamburger."

Giarrusso said the lunch period was cut because "quick action is a key to any successful police service. Police service comes first."

New Orleans is experiencing a sharp upward trend in crime.

U.S. Destroyers Exchange Fire With Shore Batteries

Iron Triangle Sweep Uncovers Underground Viet Cong Complex

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — U.S. destroyers fought two gun duels with North Vietnamese shore batteries Friday while American bombers hit rail yards and rail bridges north and south of Hanoi, the U.S. military command reported today.

In South Vietnam fierce fighting flared. Tough South Vietnamese Paratroopers reported killing 108 Viet Cong in two clashes Friday night.

Fighting was reported from the southern tip of South Vietnam's northernmost Quang Tri Province, but no major engagements were reported by either the American or Vietnamese military commands.

Operation Cedar Falls continued at a slower pace with U.S. troops in the Iron Triangle reporting only light contact in the operation area 20 to 30 miles north of Saigon. The biggest development was the uncovering of a massive tunnel Friday, believed to be the headquarters of the Viet Cong's 4th Military Region.

In another action, two companies of the U.S. 199th Light Infantry Brigade ran into heavy communist fire Friday while attacking a supply depot 14 miles southeast of the capital. They were supported by U.S. Navy and Vietnamese river patrol boats and landing craft which served as a blocking force on rivers and streams in the area.

The destroyer duels with coastal batteries in North Vietnam began in early-morning darkness Friday while the U.S. destroyers Benner and Stoddard were attacking 49 to 60 cargo junks and barges, a U.S. spokesman said.

He said the destroyers came under coastal fire about two miles southeast of Vinh and returned the fire.

The spokesman said the shore batteries were "neutralized" and stopped firing, and the destroyers resumed their attacks on cargo vessels, destroying or damaging five of them.

In the late afternoon, the Stoddard again came under fire from coastal guns, this time off the Dong Hoi area. The U.S. spokesman said the Stoddard's counterfire again silenced the batteries.

He said there was no damage to the destroyers or casualties in either gun duel.

During these coastal exchanges, U.S. pilots flew 92 bombing missions against North Vietnam, concentrating for the fifth straight day on rail yards and other rail installations.

Attempt to Avoid Tax

Cigarette Bootlegging May be State Problem

MADISON (AP) — The State Department of Taxation says it is trying to determine whether Wisconsin is being affected by a cigarette bootlegging problem that has been troubling Eastern states.

Ellsworth Jones, director of the department's Beverage and Cigarette Tax Division, said two cases in Milwaukee County Court could mean that cigarettes are being shipped into the state under methods designed to avoid state taxes.

James R. Morgan, state tax commissioner, said there is a temptation to buy cigarettes in bulk in low-tax states and sell them in another state whose taxes are ignored in the process.

Eastern states have reported considerable import of bootleg cigarettes from North Carolina, which has no cigarette tax.

Wisconsin has a tax of 10 cents per package of cigarettes. Morgan said Illinois has taxes of about 60 cents per carton compared to the Wisconsin carton tax of $1.

Two hundred cartons purchased in Illinois and sold in Wisconsin without the Wisconsin tax would net a bootlegger an $80 profit, he said.

The 650-Ton South Korean patrol craft Dongpo-ho goes down off the North Korean coast after being hit by communist shore batteries Thursday. The United Nations Command today accused North Korea of a "murderous assault" in the shelling, which took the lives of 40 South Korean sailors. U.S. Army Maj. Gen. Richard G. Ciccolella admitted the ship was in waters several miles north of the demilitarized zone and three and one-half to five miles off the coast. (AP Wirephoto)

Making Macaroni Necklace Can be Fun and Interesting

BY CAPPY DICK

It's more fun to string a necklace of macaroni than real beads. The macaroni can be had in so many different shapes you never know how a string will look until it has been completed.

Elbow macaroni is the most fun to string. Stores that specialize in Italian food usually have the greatest variety of shapes, you can look over the stock and buy the shapes you prefer.

Because the elbows are bent, you cannot thread the pieces. Instead, moisten the end of the string and twist it into a long point. It then can be poked through the elbows easily.

stringing the beads. Figure 2 shows another method which requires a straight piece of macaroni between each pair of elbows.

Another way to have fun with macaroni is to scatter a lot of pieces on the table and have your friends see how many pictures they can make by fitting the pieces together in various designs.

Cost of Living Up 3.3 Per Cent

WASHINGTON (AP) — Living costs will keep going up in 1967 but not as sharply as last year's nine-year record rise of 3.3 per cent, a government official predicts.

Commissioner Arthur M. Ross of the Bureau of Labor Statistics said the expected 1967 rise of 2.5 per cent "would not be too high a price to pay" to avoid the alternative of a recession.

But Ross conceded his economic crystal ball might be a little cloudy.

Forecasting a food price rise of about 2 per cent this year, compared with 3.8 per cent in 1966, he said: "We could be wrong because food is hard to predict."

He also predicted clothing prices, up nearly 4 per cent last year, would go up only about half that much in 1967.

Moderate Rise In reporting final 1966 figures Friday, the bureau said the consumer price index rose a moderate one-tenth of 1 per cent in December to wind up 1966 at a level of 114.7.

This means typical goods and services that cost $10 in the 1957-59 period on which the index is based cost $11.47 last month.

Grocery prices edged down two-tenths of 1 per cent in December and transportation costs dropped six-tenths. But a four-tenths of 1 per cent rise in housing costs, three-tenths for clothing and five-tenths for medical care brought over-all living costs up.

The total 1966 increase of 3.3 per cent was the biggest jump in living costs since a 3.5 per cent rise in 1957.

The auditorium seats 608 and will be available for use by organizations within the community.

The American Field Service student committee will meet at 7:30 p.m. Monday at AHS-W. Two exchange students will show slides to the group.

The French Club will meet at 7 p.m. in the Early American Room and the Future Homemakers will meet at 7 p.m. Tuesday in room 326 at AHS-W.

Grocery prices edged down two-tenths of 1 per cent in December and transportation costs dropped six-tenths. But a four-tenths of 1 per cent rise in housing costs, three-tenths for clothing and five-tenths for medical care brought over-all living costs up.

The total 1966 increase of 3.3 per cent was the biggest jump in living costs since a 3.5 per cent rise in 1957.

Calumet Commission Unanimously Denies Rezoning at Brillion

Second Attempt by Conservation Club to Add Tract Is Nullified

CHILTON — The second petition within seven months seeking commercial district zoning for land owned by the Brillion Conservation Club was turned down by Calumet County's Park and Zoning Commission Friday.

Commission members voted unanimously to recommend disapproval of a request from the club to rezone 65 acres.

The issue was brought to light last February when the club became the target of complaints by two persons living in the vicinity.

Protest Noise
They protested the noise of the trap shooting range. The late Roland Miller, then chief zoning administrator and county clerk, filed the resulting formal complaint.

The charge brought against the club by Calumet County stated that the club was operating a commercial business in a Town of Rantoul area agricultural zone.

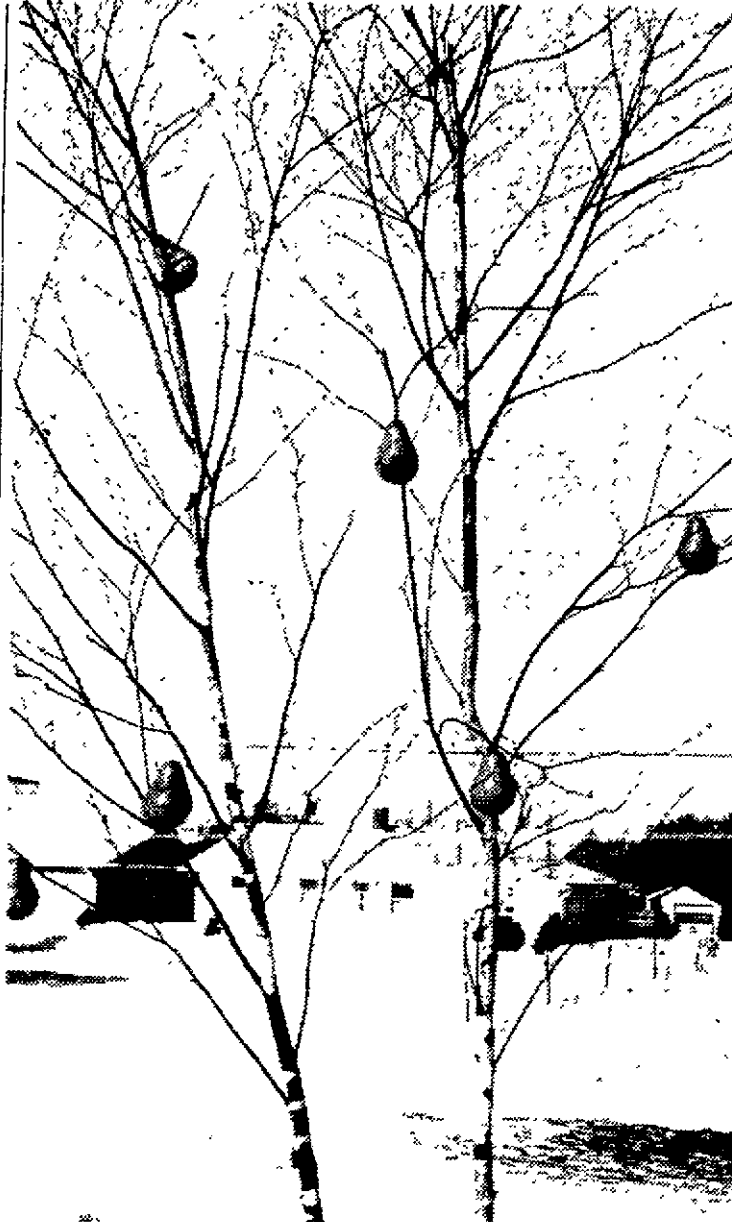

The town board denied renewal of the club's beer license July 1, and the county zoning commission denied the club's request to have 20 acres of its 85-acre rezoned from agricultural to commercial.

Zoning commission members said, at that time, that they recommended the denial because they do not approve of "spot rezoning."

Referred to Commission
Club members re-petitioned the county board in November to have a 65-acre parcel of the clubgrounds rezoned. The matter was referred to the zoning commission. The new petition called for a greater amount of land that would be rezoned, and Conservation Club members were optimistic that the outcome would be favorable this time. A 20-acre portion on the western extremity of the club grounds will remain zoned residential.

The club has been operating on a private club basis with no over-the-bar beer sales since last summer (when the town board denied renewal of the beer license).

The class B beer license was originally issued at the request of the Wisconsin State Beverage and Cigarette Tax Division, Department of Taxation, who said the license was necessary even though the bar is open only twice a week. Area home owners who

Brillion Jaycettes Promote Mental Health Association

Group Will Seek Support of Calumet County Organizations

BRILLION — A Calumet County mental health association may become a reality if a Brillion Jaycette project is successful.

The 22-member group voted Wednesday to write to Chambers of Commerce and village presidents of all Calumet County communities in an attempt to line up support from all civic and service organizations in the county.

George W. Erb, field representative for the Wisconsin Association for Mental Health, Madison, urged the Jaycettes in November to set up a county association and added that the bar is open only twice a week. Area home owners who

Association's Purpose
A Calumet chapter could work cooperatively with other chapters, he said. Prime purpose of a mental health association is to inform persons of the symptoms of mental illness so that cases can be detected and treated in early stages. Erb told the Jaycettes in November that most patients are able to leave mental hospitals within 60 days now because of this early detection and treatment.

He also stated that mental illness is one of the top four afflictions in the United States and that the number of mental health association chapters has grown in two years from 21 to more than 50. The Rev. Willard Albertus, pastor of Faith Evangelical United Brethren Church here, was a guest at the Jaycette's Wednesday meeting. The Rev. Mr. Albertus, who attended a 10-day conference last summer in Holland to study the church's role in mental health, urged the event at which three city couples — Mr. and Mrs. Peter Konyha, Mr. and Mrs. Don Hepler and Mr. and Mrs. William Bandt — will tour a cheese factory, two area dairy farms and a beef farm near Greenleaf.

These guests, along with Mr. and Mrs. William Scholz, winners of the local Outstanding Young Farmer award, will be guests of the Jaycettes at an 8 p.m. dinner at Vogels Hotel to climax the day. Clarence Bohman is general chairman.

Mrs. Robert Behnke was appointed Brillion Easter Seal chairman. She and her committee will prepare envelopes for mailing in February. Preliminary plans were made for a Jaycette membership tea and the group decided to conduct all future meetings at the city hall.

Around the Lake Conclave

Water Pollution Problems Aired at Six-County Parley

A group of county agents, conservationists and Farm Home Administration representatives from six counties around Lake Winnebago Friday listed broad water pollution problems which will be presented to county board chairmen early next month.

Meeting at the Home Mutual Building in Appleton, the officials attempted to identify and define general water problems hoping to pass the information to county boards before the new water law takes full effect.

Outagamie, Calumet, Winnebago, Fond du Lac, Green Lake and Waushara counties were represented.

The meeting was the second of the "Around the Lake" group. It was instituted last fall after Sen. Walter Hollander, Rosendale, urged cooperative county action for pollution abatement.

Cooperative Effort
Hollander stressed the cooperative effort to members of the Wolf River Basin Regional Planning Commission during their fall meeting. Gordon Bubolz, commission chairman, and William Morris, executive director, have been working on the six-county program since that time.

An earlier meeting at Fond du Lac resulted in the formation of a steering committee comprised of county board chairmen from each of the six counties.

Refrigeration Firm's Employee Buys Business

CLINTONVILLE — William Viergutz, employed as a serviceman for Middleton Refrigeration for the past 10 years, has purchased the business from John Middleton. It now will be known as Clintonville Refrigeration.

Middleton started his business 20 years ago. He will continue as distributor of bulk milk tanks for northeastern Wisconsin and keep his Ico Associate Store of farm and dairy supplies on State 22. Viergutz plans to handle bulk milk tanks in addition to his refrigeration business.

High Cliff Development Plan Wins Zoning Approval

Petition Clearing Way for Luxury Motel-Supper Club Now Goes to Calumet Board

CHILTON — The largest recreation land development project in the history of Calumet County and one which could be as elaborate as any in the Midwest, cleared one more hurdle Friday night as the County Park and Zoning Commission recommended rezoning 33.4 acres of land near High Cliff State Park.

The rezoning request — from agricultural to commercial — was made by developers of a planned $5 to $6 million recreation complex which will cover about 450 acres of property owned by Francis J. Schneider, route 1, Menasha. The recreation center is scheduled for completion by April, 1970.

The zoning commission recommended approval of the rezoning, as was expected, after only 10 minutes deliberation. The matter will now go before the Calumet County Board for final approval next month.

See No Other Changes
Attorney William D. Engler, Chilton, represented the developers at the meeting and told the commission, "This zoning should allow us sufficient latitude to go ahead with the existing plan."

Engler and Schneider said they did not see any further land reclassification in the immediate future but that such requests might be made at a later date to provide for additional expansion. Originally, the petition for rezoning asked that only 26 acres be reclassified, but a survey by the State Conservation Department showed the area to be 33.4 acres, the developer said.

Decision Held Over
The decision was held over until Friday after the commission's public hearing Jan. 3. It was a foregone conclusion at the hearing that the commission would approve rezoning. There were no dissenters at the first meeting and public and official sentiment obviously favored the overall plan.

The rezoning is vital to the strategic "convenience center" area. It will be the site of a hotel, motel, supper club, resort lodge, gift and novelty shops, delicatessens and drug stores. Project planners have said they anticipate retail sales which may total $1 million a year.

The entire development will cover 450 acres on the Schneider property.

Plan Golf Courses
A full-scale 18 hole golf course and a par three course are planned. Nine holes of the larger course already have been roughed in.

Dotting the golf course will be man-made lakes. The hotel will have 250 units. At least 280 single family residence sites are included in the plan.

The project will have its own sanitary and sewer system, well, water supply and reservoir. Included in hotel plans are indoor and outdoor swimming pools as well as a hydro-therapy pool.

Ski slopes, stables, an exercise ring and bridle paths will provide additional outdoor recreation.

See Board Okay
Land use planning for the resort area, which is one of the largest in the state, was done by Max Anderson Associates, Madison. Architectural planning for the hotel and convenience center was provided by Law, Law, Potter and Nystrom, Madison. Kenneth Zinzow, of Elkhorn, is the developing firm's vice president. He is a general partner of The Pioneer in Oshkosh and The Abbey on Lake Geneva.

Architectural plans for the buildings will not be completed until the Calumet County Board gives final approval to rezoning. There is little doubt that the board will rule favorably on the development at the February board meeting.

14 USC Agencies Receive Budget Cut

Each Group Reduced 2.5 Per Cent Because Drive Fell Short of Goal

The 14 United Community Services (UCS) agencies which participated in the 1966 Red Feather campaign, will share equally in a 2.5 per cent 1967 budget cut.

Don Herring, UCS president, reported at Thursday's board meeting that the total raised was $248,280 which was 92.9 per cent of the goal.

The reason the agency budget cuts were so low, compared to the $16,555 deficit, is that the Outagamie Chapter of the American Red Cross begins its fiscal year on July 1. The Red Cross, which joined the Red Feather campaign for the first time this year, will use funds raised in previous campaigns to carry on its work to that time. Therefore, half of its $25,000 budget was released for use by the other agencies.

"In spite of the fact that we did not make our goal, some other agencies in the community, now raising money in separate fund drives, are approaching the UCS office for possible inclusion in future campaigns. As soon as they send formal letters of request, they will be brought before the board," Art Malin, UCS executive secretary, reported.

Herring reminded the board that the $248,280 figure is about $36,000 more than was reported as raised in 1965.

Procedures Outlined

Plans for a youth center were announced several weeks ago, and when the official board of the church approved the use of the church, transforming the edifice into a community youth center.

Since that time, interest in the project has mounted and procedures under which the committees involved intend to operate have been clarified.

The church board has stipulated that should the project prove unsuccessful, any appliances or installations will become the property of the youth committee or will revert to the donor if the donor wishes to retain possession. It is understood, however, that the building would be restored to its original condition upon removal of installations which affect the appearance of the building.

A committee of young people representing youth organizations under which the center will operate. These rules will be similar to the rules governing school functions, such as dances and other youth activities. The youth committee will be responsible to the board of control, made up of adults representing the churches, school, civic and service organizations in Marion.

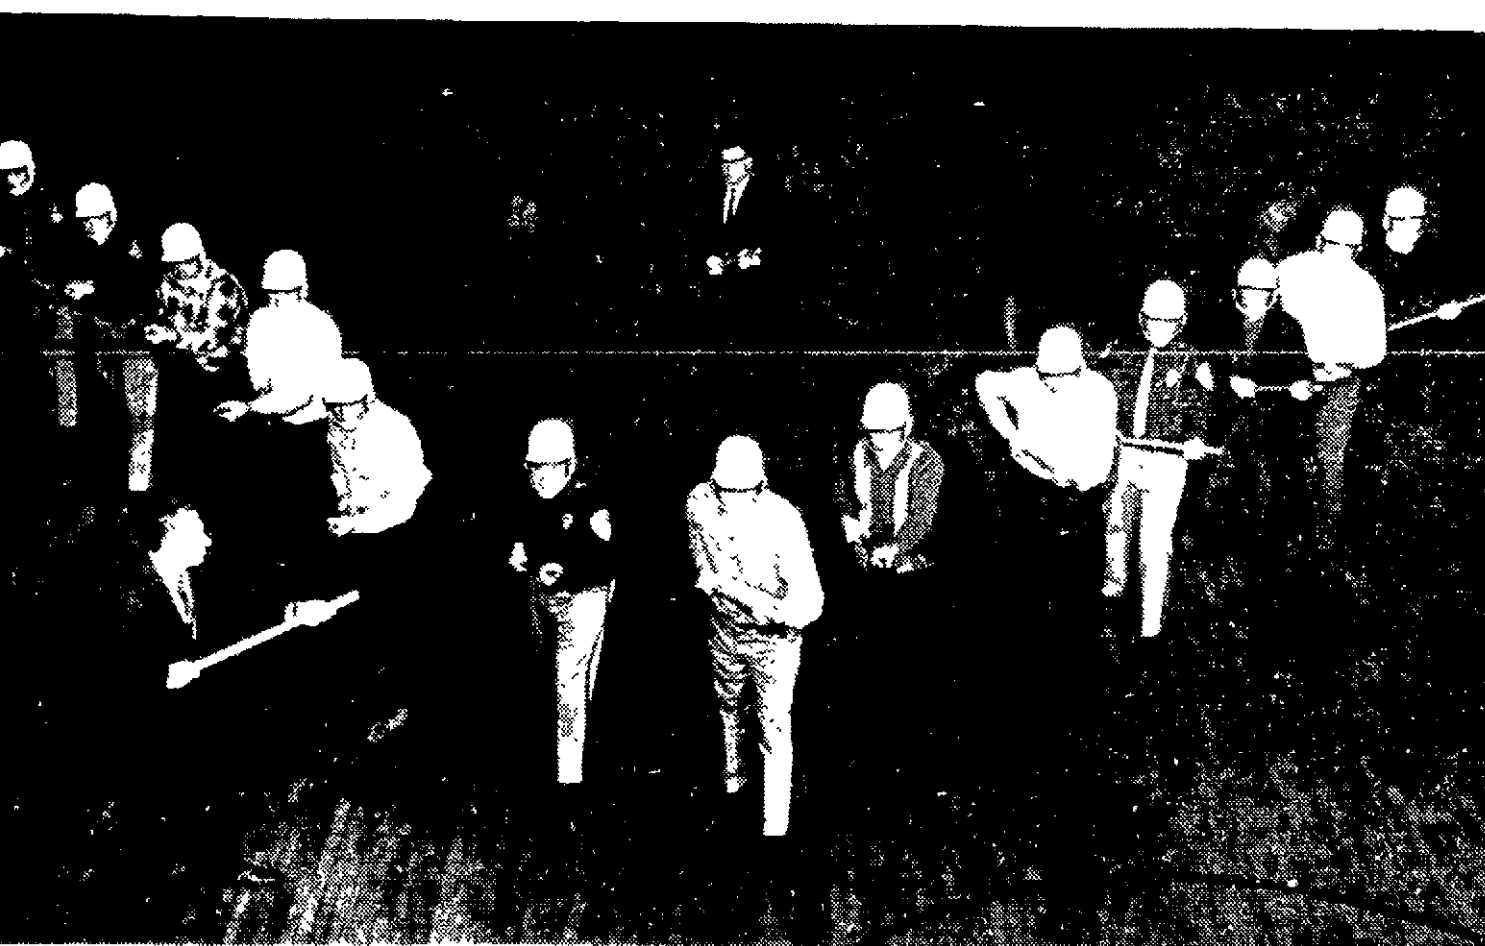

The young people themselves will be responsible for the basic rules for membership and operation, and the adult group will act in an advisory capacity.

Adult Chaperones
Activities at the center will be chaperoned by adults. However, plans for supervision are incomplete at this time.

The center, it was emphasized, is in no way intended to be a religious organization, but rather, a youth organization for the entire city of Marion and the surrounding area.

Donations can be made to the Marion Youth Center by contacting members of the youth committee. The most immediate need is the money to install a second restroom as required by law.

It is felt that this project could be of great value to the Marion area.

Judge Orders Supervision for Appleton Youth

16-Year-Old Honor Student Linked With Summer Burglaries

A 16-year old Appleton youth, described as "nearly an A student," Friday afternoon was placed on one-year supervision to the Outagamie County Welfare Department for his part in check forgery, house burglaries, car theft, a police chase, and a burglary at Riverview Country Club.

Most of the incidents, investigated by Appleton police, occurred last summer. The boy was found delinquent following a formal hearing before Outagamie County Judge Raymond P. Dohr who warned him, "If you are brought before this court again, it is very possible you would be sent to an institution."

The judge further ordered that the youth cannot apply for a driver's license for one year.

Split Proceeds

The court was told that the youth was involved with other boys in cashing about $197 in forged checks. Three checks of $33.45 each were cashed at Whitelaw and at a tavern in Reedsville, both in Manitowish County. The youth and his companions split the proceeds.

He was with his younger brother, age 15, and the stolen 1964 Cadillac they were in was involved in a high speed chase by Outagamie County police last August.

The youth who was in court Friday was driving the car, which skidded off the highway at U. S. 41 and County Trunk BB. He fled while police caught the others. He later turned himself in. The youths stole the car from a southside home.

Summer Burglaries

The house burglaries occurred in May, June and July, police said. In one instance, the youth and a companion crawled through a milk chute but were scared out of the house when the occupants returned. Wine, gin and cigarettes were taken during a house burglary on W. Atlantic Street May 29. Other youths also were involved in most of the incidents.

Judge Dohr ordered the boy to pay $164.85 as his share of restitution. He is to pay his share of the $180 damage done to the stolen car when it left the road; for money obtained through the cashing of forged checks, and for loot obtained in the house burglaries.

Snowmobiles To be Barred From Parks

The first move to outlaw snowmobiles in Appleton parks and Reid Municipal Golf Course has been taken by the park recreation commission.

It requested the Appleton Council to adopt an ordinance which would prohibit snowmobiles in the designated areas.

"The commission does not feel these areas are suitable, and also, there exists a danger to life and property were they to be used in city parks," Wendall H. Smith, commission vice president, informed authorities.

"It is suggested further that perhaps the city has other property which could be made available and used for this purpose," Smith added.

The commission took the action at its Jan. 17 meeting.

The letter will be referred to the council's welfare-ordinance committee.

Use for Corn Starch Found in Paper Making

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department has developed plans — which it hopes some commercial concern will adopt — to convert corn starch into a paper-strengthening additive. Such use would mean a new industrial use for corn.

A chemical process for making the additives called Starch Xanthate, has been developed by scientists at the Department's research center at Peoria, Ill.

The POWER of FAITH

To isolated communities and families along the coast and on the islands of the state of Maine, the boat Sunbeam III is a symbol of Christian hope, help and brotherhood. It is the working arm of The Maine Sea Coast Missionary Society. In all kinds of weather it carries the tangibles and intangibles of Christian service. The mission ministers make hundreds of parish calls, hold services and give special attention to the aged and ill. At Christmas the Sunbeam delivers 1500 gifts to lonely villages and lighthouses.

The Maine Sea Coast Missionary Society has grown and flourished since 1903 because of the faith of many people across the country.

Dr. Henry Van Dyke, one time president of the board of the Society, wrote a poem titled "Little Ship Sunbeam." He read it at the launching of Sunbeam II in 1926. The last stanza could well be the watchword for the Society.

*Then let the wind blow high or low,
Serene and brave our boat shall go;
For Jesus sails the sea again,
Along the granite coast of Maine*

LBJ's Name Comes Up at Baker Trial

Former Senate Aide Speaks of His 'Best Friend'

By RAYMOND D.J. CROWLEY
WASHINGTON (AP) — Bobby Baker, after fervently denying he pocketed $80,000 of senatorial campaign funds, plans to offer further testimony next week in his U.S. District Court trial.

His appearance on the witness stand Friday was marked by reference to his "best friends" on Capitol Hill—Lyndon B. Johnson and the late Sen. Robert S. Kerr, D-Okl.

The former secretary to Senate Democrats, on trial for larceny, tax evasion and conspiracy, said that in 1962 he needed money because of problems in building the Carousel Motel in Ocean City, Md.

He testified he took his problem "to the best friend I had around the Capitol, the then vice president." Johnson was vice president at the time.

"He picked up the phone," Baker said, "called his friend and my friend, Sen. Kerr, and then advised me to go see Sen. Kerr, which I did immediately."

The result, he said, was that the multimillionaire Kerr arranged a $250,000 loan for him from an Oklahoma City bank and pledged a $50,000 personal loan which Kerr gave him in installments.

Lin Piao Recognizes War Throughout China

saying there were "reactionary elements" in the air force. This account came from the correspondent of the Japan Broadcasting Corp., who said there was no way of determining the accuracy of the wall posters.

Dr. Lin Yutang, noted Chinese author and scholar, predicted in Manila that the current upheaval in Communist China will leave Mao's regime a "wreck." Arriving from Taipei, Formosa, for a goodwill visit, Lin told a news conference: "The worst is yet to come. By the time the purging of Communist leaders is completed, Mao's machinery will be a wreck and shaken to the bottom."

CIVIL CONFUSION

Whether there is civil war in the classic sense or not, there could be no doubt that the vast Chinese mainland and its 720 million people were in the grip of civil confusion.

Mao-Lin supporters since the start of the year have assaulted the city proletariat, the provincial Communist Party committees and the organs of propaganda — all strongholds of Liu power. They have made some gains, but by their own admission have yet to consolidate their victories.

Lin, speaking at a recent meeting of the party Central Committee's Military Commission, was quoted as saying: "There are some who must be resolutely knocked down. But there are some others who must not be knocked down. The revolution is necessary, but confusion must be avoided."

The wall posters — pasted up by opposing groups of Red Guards, worker or military factions — have exposed the citizens to one sensational statement after another. The veracity of many of the claims is unknown, but some of the items have later been confirmed by Peking radio, the New China News Agency or the Peking People's Daily.

Marquette Denies Rights Work Involved in Move

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Marquette University says Robert J. O'Connell's role in civil rights activity was not a factor in a decision to drop him from the university's law school faculty. O'Connell disclosed Thursday that he had been told Christmas Eve his contract with Marquette will not be renewed when it expires June 30. He and the university declined to discuss reasons for the action.

O'Connell, with the law school faculty for five years, is former chairman of the Milwaukee Com-make the right play, but for very different reasons.

West leads the six of clubs, and declarer plays low from dummy. If East is a fairly good player he is quite likely to try a finesse with the ten of clubs. This preserves the king to use whenever dummy's queen is played.

In this case East has a long wait for the next club play. South wins the first trick with the jack of clubs, runs the four spades and the five diamonds and may even try the heart finesse if he wants to add insult to injury. Even without the heart finesse South has the first eleven tricks.

Average Play

If East is the average bridge player he plays the king of clubs at the first trick. What is the problem? He has been taught to play "third hand high," and his automatic play works well in this case since a club return gives the defenders the first six tricks.

If East is an expert he plays the king of clubs at the first trick for two reasons. First, the situation is pretty hopeless unless West has led from a long club suit headed by the ace or ace-jack. Second, South doesn't hold the ace of clubs because if he did have A-x or A-x-x of clubs, or the like, he would play dummy's queen of clubs at the first trick.

If you make the correct play in a situation of this kind, don't be too quick to give your reasons. You might make it clear that you were just an average player. Your best bet is to smile a superior smile, and say that an expert makes the right play and leaves it to others to work out the reasons.

Daily Question

Partner opens with 1 NT (16 to 18 points), and the next player passes. You hold: S 10 9 4, H 10 7, D 6 4, C A 9 8 6 4 3. What do you say?

Answer: Pass. Your partner will probably do pretty well at noup, and there is no compelling reason to think that you will do better at clubs. If you use the Stayman Convention, you cannot play the hand at two clubs because that asks your partner to bid a major suit: your first resting place is three clubs, which may not be a great bargain.

Your Problems

Ann Suggests Bottle Stopper Better Solution Than Apology

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Several days ago my husband and I attended a party in the home of some long-time friends. The guests were very congenial and we had a wonderful time — as far as I can remember. I'm ashamed to tell you that I had too much to drink and the last part of the evening is a complete blank.

Landers

I have a nagging fear that I insulted one of the women but I honestly cannot recall whether it actually happened or I dreamed it.

We will be seeing the same group in a few weeks and I want to know if I should telephone the woman before the party and ask if I was out of line. Or should I wait until I see her and then apologize? Or would it be best to forget the whole thing? — Mrs. Don't Remember

Dear Mrs. Don't: Few situations are as awkward as a woman trying to reconstruct what happened when she was drunk. There's always the chance that the other party was stiff, too, so I say let bad enough alone. Now that you know booze sends your brain on active duty, lay off the sauce and you won't be plagued with this problem in the future.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am not writing for advice. I think anyone who can't solve his own problems has a screw loose. But I do read your column every day just to see what the nuts are going to write in about next.

A few days ago I read a letter from a woman who is out of her mind. She said her husband had had an affair, that he came to her practically on his knees, said the affair was over and begged her to take him back. She said yes for the children's sake but she wrote: "of course

Commission Approves Electric Cost Reduction To 10 Wholesale Firms

WASHINGTON (AP) — Electric rate reductions proposed by Wisconsin Michigan Power Co. of Appleton, Wis., have been approved by the Federal Power Commission.

The commission said Thursday rates to 10 wholesale customers in Wisconsin and Michigan will decrease about $83,170 annually or 3.43 per cent.

The reductions are effective Sept. 1, 1966.

John McLean, assistant vice president, of the utility pointed out that the $83,170 is part of an $832,000 reduction in rates announced by the firm and reported last September. The sum is not an additional reduction but FCC approval has just been received on the September proposal.

I can never truly forgive him." Her letter was signed "World Torn Apart."

If she thinks her world is torn apart she should try living in my world. My husband has been keeping a tramp for three years and I'd give anything if he would tell me it's over and ask me to forgive him. Some wives don't know when they are well off. — Life Is A Dung Heap

Dear Friend: I agree that the woman who wrote would be wise to rid herself of resentment and welcome the contrite husband with open arms — but sometimes it's easier said than done. And now about signature, lady. You'd better elevate your opinion of life if you want it to get better.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Will you please tell me what my grocer meant when he said "You have to pay your bill with cash from now on because the last check you gave me bounced, and I had to put it through a second time before I got my money." My credit has always been good and I don't know what he was talking about. I asked for an explanation and he said he wasn't very good at explaining things and to please pay in cash or take my business elsewhere.

I am disturbed over this and would like you to tell me what does the term "bounced check" mean? — Greenhorn

Dear Green: When a check bounces it means there is not enough money in the account to cover it.

If you still do not understand go to your bank and ask someone to explain it to you. A persons who writes checks when he doesn't have sufficient funds can go to jail.

Is alcoholism a disease? How can the alcoholic be treated? Is there a cure? Read the booklet "Alcoholism — Hope and Help," by Ann Landers. Enclose 35 cents in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Post-Crescent, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Kenosha Urged to Seek Federal Aid

KENOSHA (AP) — Federal representatives have urged Kenosha to use available government aid to establish diversified industries which might absorb the economic impact of one industry's employe layoffs.

The War From Hanoi's Viewpoint

The suggestion by the government of South Vietnam that its representatives meet with some from North Vietnam over how to extend a truce proposed for the Vietnamese lunar New Year celebration next month was a good one. It was clearly aimed at trying to find some way of talking with the North Vietnamese about anything at all. But so far it has managed to get no further than all such overtures, private and public.

The truce proposal came first from the South Vietnamese late last November and called for a halt in war activities for four days. The National Liberation Front responded by ordering a seven day cease fire beginning at the same time as that proposed by the South Vietnamese but going on for three more days. After the Christmas holidays, Premier Ky said that perhaps the peaceful celebration of Tet might have to be curtailed because of Communist violations of the Christmas truce, but this was considered as primarily a political comment. Officially the South Vietnamese government offered to "meet the representatives of North Vietnam to work out arrangements for an extension of the suspension of offensive operations during Tet to seven days or even longer on a properly agreed and supervised basis."

Although the proposal did not mention the Viet Cong, there have been hints that Premier Ky could be persuaded to meet even with representatives from the National Liberation Front if such a condition were to be imposed by Hanoi.

But the lack of response thus far from North Vietnam serves to give strong credence to the opinion expressed by New York Times reporter Harrison Salisbury and some other observers that deep mistrust is one of the major reasons why no moves toward negotiation have found a response in the North.

Reportedly the distrust is based on two times that Ho Chi Minh feels he has been cheated. The first was in 1946 when the post-war agreement made between the French and Ho Chi Minh was, in Hanoi's view, repudiated. This led to the war with France and the French withdrawal from Vietnam. It also led to the 1954 Geneva Accords whereby elections in all of Vietnam were to be held. Ho Chi Minh considers that the United States did not live up to this agreement because it backed President Diem's refusal to hold elections on the grounds that the Communists had so thoroughly infiltrated the South that they were bound to win. Whatever our opinion of undercover methods of the Communists, it is easy to see how the North Vietnamese can consider that they were sold out and that neither the French nor the Americans are to be trusted to keep their word.

The North Vietnamese also reportedly feel that the carrot and prod technique of the United States, whereby each peace feeler has been accompanied by escalation, is really an effort to conceal the increased military pressure upon the North. And adding to the emotional attitude in the North is the solid fact that it is being bombed by American planes while obviously no Americans in the United States are being attacked by the North Vietnamese.

As Washington spokesmen have so often said, it takes two to make a truce. There may be some behind-the-scenes maneuvering going on that indicate some possibilities: North Vietnam will move toward negotiations. But so far there certainly is nothing out in the open that peace talks are any closer today than they were a year ago. At this point in history it appears that the American policies in Vietnam have brought a unity to the North that communism alone could have done only with terror and force and that no such unity of purpose has yet come to South Vietnam despite all our efforts toward that end.

AP Newsfeatures Writer

"We should continue to carry to every corner of the nation our campaign for a beautiful America — to clean up our towns to make them more beautiful, our cities, our countryside by creating more parks and more seashores and more open spaces for our children to play in and for the generations that come after us to enjoy."

That was President Johnson speaking, in his State of the Union message Jan. 10. And of course the system of national areas has been growing rapidly in recent years.

In the period 1961-66, no less than 45 national monuments, historic sites, seashores, parks, riverways, recreation areas and reserves have been added to the federal system. These were spread over 26 states, the District of Columbia and the Virgin Islands. Twenty states received at least one new national site, three states got two, three states got three and two states (New York and Texas) received five each.

Some of the additions were relatively small, such as Theodore Roosevelt's birthplace, a four-story brownstone house at 28 East 20th Street in New York City. Others are large areas, intended mostly for conservation and recreation.

Seashores and lakeshores are a comparatively new idea in national areas. In the past six years national seashores have been created at Point Reyes, Calif.; Cape Cod, Mass.; Fire Island, N.Y.; Cape Lookout, N.C.; Padre Island, Texas, and Assateague Island, Md.-Va. The new national lakeshores are Indiana

Put together, they make an ever-growing area of America being preserved for future generations for reasons of history, conservation, recreation and information. For 1967, a dozen new areas

Set-Back on Highways

The state government of Wisconsin has protested in vain the national administration decision to withhold pledged federal aids for the construction of Interstate highway mileage in Wisconsin, and a concurrent refusal to permit the state to pledge state money produced by bonding against future federal aids for the acceleration of such major route construction.

For all practical purposes, those national government decisions veto the highway improvement speedup authorization voted by the 1965 legislature after long discussion and dispute.

Yet there is an alternative that is possibly available to the state, if the legislature adheres to its earlier position about the need for speedier highway development in Wisconsin and agrees with Gov. Knowles that such needs should not be ignored because of the exigencies of the Vietnam military budget.

The $15,000,000 a year equivalent of the slightly increased motor fuel tax enacted a year ago will be of negligible effect in financing current construction needs. It was intended to be the seed money for a bonding effort on behalf of incomplete Interstate highways. There is nothing the state can do to defy the national government decision to defer the Interstate construction programs. These are federal projects, almost wholly financed in the end with federal grants.

But there are about 11,000 miles of state trunk highways in Wisconsin, many thousands of which need replacement or relocation, many other thousands of which need incidental improvements that can be arranged only over a period of decades under present arrangements.

Madison policy-makers have decided that highway bonding to a limited degree, for high priority routes, is wise and prudent. What should prevent the state, therefore, from amending the bonding law to switch the construction authorization to strategically important state highway lanes?

Gov. Knowles in his message to the legislature endorsed the highway commission's request to expand freeway planning from the existing statutory limit of 300 miles to 1,500 miles, which is what Mr. Bakke and his associates through careful calculations have concluded the state will need during the next quarter of a century. But such a legislative act will remain a gesture, a wholly academic and unattainable ideal, unless fiscal support is provided. Probably it cannot be provided on a pay as you go basis. But the opportunity is available by using the $15,000,000 now annually available in additional state funds, subject only to state control, to inaugurate a slightly modified program on behalf of major highways under state responsibility.

Has LBJ Learned a Lesson?

Eighth District Congressman John W. Byrnes in his newsletter, Memo, recalls what Republicans were saying about President Johnson's State of the Union message a year ago.

He wrote a year ago: "The dilemma confronting the Administration, in view of the absolute necessity of funding the Vietnam war fully, is either to cut back the Great Society spending . . . or to continue it and incur deficits which would lead to a dangerously expanded economy with inflation sending the cost of living sky high. To this dilemma, the President, in his message, gave a surprising answer. He denied, in effect, that the dilemma existed. He said we could fight a war in Vietnam and build the Great Society: we could have guns and butter and we could spend and enjoy a stable economy, all at the same time."

Byrnes comments today the President has learned to his sorrow and the sorrow of the country, that what he proposed a year ago couldn't be done.

In his 1967 message the President said: "Our third objective is priorities — to move ahead on the priorities that we have established within the resources that are available . . . the nation has many commitments and responsibilities which make heavy demands upon our total resources."

The two quotations would indicate the President now concedes he was wrong a year ago but Byrnes wonders, since the President made new spending proposals in his 1967 message, whether a priority system will be put into effect or whether this proposal is just more talk.

Favors Attendant for New Ramp Rather Than Meters

Editor, Post-Crescent:

Since the city council is undecided on whether to have an attendant or meters on the new parking ramp, why don't they take the trouble to find out how the people feel about it? Many people thought this was all settled and that an attendant had been decided upon.

Their concern in the small difference in costs is really "penny-wise and pound-foolish."

They had no qualms about paying $5 million for a high school, when a more than adequate structure could have been built for $3 million, accommodating the same number of students. Other cities have done it.

Everyone knows that it costs more to park in the Prange ramp, but still this is the most used ramp in town. I, and many people I know, would not mind paying a little more to park, just so we don't have to worry about feeding a meter, change, parking tickets, etc.

Put an attendant on the new ramp and I'll bet a cookie, it will be the second busiest ramp in town!

Thinks Steiger Should Reveal His Total Worth

Editor, Post-Crescent:

Voters of the Sixth District have been waiting for a statement from Cong. William Steiger in regards to his finances and assets. It is my firm belief that anyone holding high office should expose his worth so that voters may know whether there is a conflict of interest in his voting on important measures that will come before the Congress.

I noticed our former Cong. John A. Race of Fond du Lac was the first representative in Congress to do this after he was sworn in two years ago.

I am hoping Mr. Steiger will be straight forth-right with this important information which I believe voters of the sixth congressional district are entitled to know.

No Snow on the Beach But Plenty Elsewhere

LOUISVILLE (AP) — During a recent 13-inch snowfall here, not a drop touched the ground at Belknap Beach on the Ohio River.

Puzzled residents got this explanation from the Weather Bureau:

The flakes thawed as they fell — all because of the river. It was still warm, so warm that the air melted the snow while it was still airborne.

Wisconsin Report

Knowles' Safety Message One Of Best Speeches of His Career

BY JOHN WYNGAARD
MADISON — Nobody who heard Gov. Knowles relate his comprehensive list of new highway safety law proposals could doubt that he was deeply moved and in deadly earnest about the program he offered with full knowledge that it will be difficult to enact.

In composition and in delivery, it was one of the best performances of his political career.

To many listeners, the governor in spite of his rich experience in public life, his professional training as an advocate, and his opportunity to practice oratory in a thousand or more public appearances during his two years in the executive office, often appears excessively bland and casual. Sometimes he suggests that the material he is presenting is not altogether familiar to him. This is a common enough occurrence in these times when the ghost writer on the politician's entourage is very nearly as important as the campaign treasurer.

But it was a different Knowles who strode to the assembly lectern the other day and conveyed his deep worry about a seemingly unmanageable problem that represents thousands of needless highway accidents, and a gruesome loss of life, limb and property each year.

To this listener, it was reminiscent of former Gov. Walter Kohler, Knowles' good friend, who also found it difficult to display emotion in public address. But on one memorable day he did so. It was upon the occasion of the recommitment of the battle-ship Wisconsin, about a decade and a half ago. He stood on the windy and rainy deck of the dreadnaught in the Norfolk navy yard and delivered the most moving speech of his life.

MAJOR DECISIONS DUE
The chances are that Wisconsin is on the edge of some major decisions about stiffening of driver controls and punishment of safety law violations. If the prospect is verified, no single person in Wisconsin will be more responsible for the achievement than the present governor. No man in this state has done more, against often frustrating indifference and boredom among politicians generally, to pound home the idea that the horrible highway accident loss is one of the shameful characteristics of modern life.

Yet Knowles is an old horse in legislative politics. He is probably not deluding himself about his chances. Some of his propositions are legitimately controversial, and honest men honestly dispute them. Some of them tread on some of the most ancient of the sacred cows of Wisconsin public policy. Reaction of representative legislators was cautious, polite and friendly for the most part, but very careful nevertheless. Probably the governor would regard himself as fortunate to win half of the long list of propositions he outlined.

FEDERAL AID CARROT

Probably one of the lucky circumstances involved is the fact that the United States Congress has adopted a national highway safety act which imposes upon the states a pressure for local laws under penalty of forfeiture of substantial sums of federal highway construction aid funds. Knowles shrewdly emphasized that theme of federal requirements through his carefully composed message.

Citizens with a philosophical turn of mind may wonder about the causes of federal legislation in numbers of fields that somehow are beyond the initiative of the states. The highway beautification program is another pertinent example. The threat of loss of federal aid is likely to persuade the reluctant state legislature on that subject too. One may wonder, moreover, about the validity of the reservations of local politicians when they are so often resolved when the carrot of federal money is introduced into the dispute.

Teacher Has a Real Concern for Pupils

Editor, Post-Crescent:

Thank you for your articulate letter in the 1-15-67 "People's Forum". Thank you also for the invitation to reply.

I am a teacher in the Appleton Public Schools and I might add that I regard teaching as one of the most valuable and rewarding (not monetary) professions in the world.

Each day I have before me two types of students: Those who are in class for a purpose because they have learned that purpose long before coming to school, because they have parents who care enough about them to take the time to teach them the joy and dignity of both physical and mental responsibility, and those who are in the class who are bored with themselves, life, and learning because they have had little or no stimulation prior to coming to school. These unfortunate students also receive marginal interest and support from their parents in all of their basic primary training.

These negative pupils are my constant concern because they are the ones who have to seek unacceptable social behavior to be recognized in school, in the community, and unfortunately in the home as well.

I love my work and it is my aim as a teacher to expose my students to the thinking and the ideas of many, both good and evil, so that they may be able to detect from exposure that which is just, of merit, lasting, and eventual heritage.

I know that I am one of the primary influences in the life of each student I have. It is my idealistic desire to have my pupils respect me for my knowledge; respect me for my concern for their personal and intellectual welfare, respect me for my Christian principles which reflect my daily attitudes and behavior toward them.

I have the utmost of faith in many of my students. I also have the utmost of concern for a growing number of my students. Both shall be the citizens of my wonderful America.

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for Jan. 26, 1867.

Ice gatherers ought to be at work, laying in their stock now. The freezing weather previous to and since the snow has made excellent ice, and now, before thawing weather comes on, is the best time to get it in. Mr. Cleggett will doubtless do a big business in the ice trade. It pays well.

Those boys who make it a practice to jump on behind every sleigh that passes are a perfect nuisance, and should be kept at home by their parents, if they have any. Barzini 'Beliefs'

There are many things about Italy that Barzini would have Jingo believe.

He would have Jingo believe: "Russia — where nothing is seen and everything is understood."

"Italy — where everything is seen and nothing is understood."

Opera A Mistake

"When we discovered Greek drama, we couldn't understand why there was no music. So we made a mistake and invented the opera."

"Women's adultery is punishable by law. Man's is only if he brings the woman into his house."

Those were some of Barzini's observations.

The rest bordered on banality. But that is not to say that they were in poor taste. Some, however, in a method that is alien to Jingo, the Italians have a disarming way of being banal.

Maybe it isn't banality at all, naive Jingo begins to suspect. Perhaps it's just roguish Banaroque.

Whatever it might be, Barzini led Jingo to believe that the Italians aren't quite as exuberant as they appear to be . . . that "Maybe they are the saddest people in the world."

Baroque or banal, happy or sad, Jingo believed Luigi Barzini.

Oshkosh Whacks AHS on Explosion In Final Quarter

Janke Scores 22 Points to Pace 65-45 FRVC Victory

BY JUDY RUSSELL Post-Crescent Staff Writer OSHKOSH — Too many mistakes, a pressing defense and a 22-point performance by little Al Janke proved to be too much for the Appleton High School Terrors Friday night, as they were overwhelmed by Oshkosh, 65-45.

The Indians shot off to a 16-8 advantage. Coach Dick Emanuel's Terrors were suffled considerably by Oshkosh's zone defense. The Terrors could hit on only four of 16 attempts in the first quarter.

Things brightened for the visitors in the second period. Down by six points with 4:20 left in the half, the Terrors came to life. Two buckets by Bob Simon, with 2:57 remaining, and a shot by Tom Hintz put Appleton down by only three points, 22-19. Then OHS Senior Jon Weber hit for a 24-19 advantage. Simon flipped one in again and it was 24-21. Art Zuleger added a free throw and Appleton went to the locker room just two points down.

Comeback Frame

The Terrors hit 40 per cent of their shots in that comeback frame, outscoring Oshkosh, 14-8. However, for the half, Appleton shot only 32 per cent, while the Indians managed 37 per cent.

In the first minute of the second half, Simon's bucket knotted the score, 24-24, and the Terrors appeared to have solved the problems that plagued them in the first half. Zuleger made it 26-24 and Hintz, all alone under the basket, pushed Appleton's lead to 28-24 with only two minutes gone in the third.

A few minutes later, Hintz again hit two baskets in a row and Appleton led, 32-27. Then Oshkosh's Bob Kleinschmidt and Jim Strasser went to work, tying it at 32-all. Then, except for one bucket by Hintz, Oshkosh took off again — a charity toss by Paul Elbing, a steal and score by Janke, another bucket by Janke and a 2-pointer by Strasser to give Oshkosh a 39-34 margin at the end of the third.

The final frame spelled disaster for the team that had upset Green Bay West the week before. Oshkosh continued to force the Terrors to make mistakes, as the pressing defense and fast break broke the game wide open. Five charity losses, the rebounding of 6-5 Weber and the fancy work of Janke and Strasser soon gave the Indians a lead of 50-33, with five minutes left.

Bob Meyer, Jeff Stach, George Hoffman and George Mills managed to score for Appleton in the final hectic minutes, but, by then, Oshkosh held a 20-point advantage.

Only Hintz and Simon hit in double figures for Appleton, which played without the services of injured Gary Lutz, Strasser, Janke, Weber and Kleinschmidt were in the double figures for Oshkosh.

Oshkosh outrebounded Appleton, 64-42, and hit 41 per cent for the game while the Terrors shot 29 per cent. It was the fifth win in a row for Don Erickson's Indians, who are now 7-2 in the F R V C. Oshkosh faces Sheboygan North tonight while Manitowoc invades Appleton.

Vikings Beat Coe '5'
On Late Heroics by Schultz and Simon

CEDAR RAPIDS, Iowa — Dick Schultz and Steve Simon whipped in three quick baskets in the final two minutes to boost the Lawrence University Vikings to a 70-64 Midwest Conference victory over Coe here Friday night.

The triumph gives the Vikes a 2-3 mark in league play and 4-3, over-all, while the Kohawks suffered their third conference loss in four starts and are 1-7 over-all.

The Vikes spurred to a 43-34 advantage early in the second half, but then saw their lead gradually dissipate until forward John Valentine finally put the Kohawks ahead, 60-59, with 3:01 remaining. Schultz, who finished with 15 points for the night, then hit a short shot and Simon canned two of his six baskets to put the Vikes out of reach at 65-60, with 1:28 left.

Good Balance

The Lawrence quintet got good balance in the scoring department, with four of the five starters hitting double figures. Brian Bock paced the Vikes with 20 points, and Mike Andrews and Steve Simon hit 15 and 12, respectively — in addition to Schultz's effort. Lawrence outshot its foe, making 29 of 58 shots for a 50 per cent. Coe, meanwhile, managed 70 shots but hit only 24, for 34.2 per cent.

Despite Lawrence's hot shooting, Coach Clyde Rusk's five managed only a 35-33 lead at the intermission. Valentine, the conference's third leading scorer teamed with Jay Griffin to bring Coe back in contention in the second half. Valentine wound up with 16 points, and Griffin hit 14.

Lawrence has another contest tonight at Beloit.

Losse Hits 28 Points For Rockets

BY ROGER PITT Post-Crescent Staff Writer NEW LONDON — Neenah High School's basketball team, fourth ranked in the state, was nearly upset Friday by a fired-up and hot shooting New London quintet before pulling out a 79-76 win in a battle between the supposed "haves" and "have nots" of the Mid-Eastern conference.

A combination of torrid shooting, strong defense and tough rebounding kept Neenah fighting to maintain its perfect M-E record. The win was the seventh in conference play and 10th in 11 starts this season. Dave Hendricks-coached New London is 2-5 in conference play and 3-8 over-all.

Gary Losse had to be the hero of the evening for the Rockets in a star-studded game. The speedy senior guard notched 22 of his 28 points in the opening half. Five of Losse's second-half points came in the crucial final quarter.

Scores 12 points

The game was tied, 3-3, after 1:15 had elapsed in the first period, then New London opened up from long range and rattled off 12 points to the Rocket's six in 2:45. New London led, 29-20, at the end of the opening period as it hit on 80 per cent of their shots from the field.

Neenah put on a sustained rally behind Losse's outside shooting 12 points in the second period. New London blistered the nets with a 74 per cent accuracy in the opening half (20 of 17). The Rockets hit on 17 of 27, for 64 per cent.

Neenah reversed the shooting trend in the second half as it

Foster Killed In Qualifying At Riverside

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (AP) — Qualifying concludes today for the $85,000 Motor Trend 500 for stock cars at Riverside International Raceway — where driver Billy Foster lost his life in a careening smash-up.

Foster, 29, of Victoria, B.C., was killed instantly Friday when his 1967 Dodge Charger slammed against a retaining wall at an estimated 135 miles an hour.

Dr. Irving Omphroy, the track physician, said Foster's helmet probably struck the wall as his car hit the barrier. Foster died instantly of head injuries, the doctor said.

The apparent cause of the fatal crash was brake drum failure, a track spokesman said. He said Foster's car, owned by Rudy Hoerr of Peoria, Ill., was equipped with special racing brake drums.

Foster qualified ninth Thursday, averaging 105.297 m.p.h. around the 2.7-mile, nine-turn course.

Kaukauna Hands Menasha 49-39 M-E Cage Defeat

Balanced Scoring and Strong Rebounding Keys to Victory

BY GEORGE MANCOSKY Post-Crescent Staff Writer MENASHA — Balanced scoring and a rebounding edge paved the way for Kaukauna's 49-39 Mid-Eastern Conference triumph over Menasha here Friday night.

With the victory, the Ghosts remained within a game of first-place Neenah, on their 6-1 record. Menasha's mark is just reversed.

Coach Barry Ewald's Bluejays again played their control style offense, and, coupled with only 19 fouls, and few time-outs and turnovers, the contest lasted barely more than an hour.

Menasha did a fairly decent job off the boards most of the first half, but, in the second period, the Ghosts' height, physical strength and bulk began to assert itself. Dennis Spice dropped in two important rebound goals in the frame.

The Ghosts made 20 field goals and they were divided evenly among four starters — Spice, Quinn Vanden Heuvel, John Vande Hey and Pat Kavanaugh. Vanden Heuvel and Vande Hey each added three free throws to share scoring honors with the Bluejays' Steve Jensen.

Kavanaugh, the conference's runnerup scorer, netted 11 points and Spice had 10. as did the Jays' Kevin Conway.

After the mid-point in the first quarter, when they broke a 7-7 tie, the visitors never trailed. It was 13-10 at the period and 22-16 at halftime.

Fast period

The second stanza went especially fast since the Jays went into a deep, deep freeze at the start and not one point was scored in the first 4½ minutes.

The Twin Cities spurted a couple of times in the third segment to chop 8-point leads in half but scoring the last five points of the frame on Kavanaugh's jump shot and three points by Vanden Heuvel, the victors took a 35-26 lead in to the final frame.

The last quarter was uneventful, with the Ghosts leading by up to 10, until, at 41-31, Menasha began a flurry which produced six straight points on baskets by Tom Kenney, Conway and John Robinson to make it 41-37 with 3:04 left.

Ghosts Draw Fouls

Kaukauna then concocted its own stall and drew two fouls with Vande Hey and Vanden Heuvel each making the free throw and bonus for 45-37 with 1:25 left.

Sophomore Ron Haack broke the Jays' dry spell with 23 seconds left, but two quick goals by Kavanaugh in the closing

Coaches Name Quarterbacks For Pro Bowl

Unitas, Meredith Get Nod Over Starr, Ryan To Start Contest

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The 17th annual Pro Bowl football game — and it may be the last in its present form — takes over the grid scene Sunday with the best of the National Football League on display in Memorial Coliseum.

It's East versus West as stars of the eastern and western conferences of the NFL go into action before a hoped-for-crowd of 50,000 and a national television audience.

CBS does the television with the kickoff set for 4:05 p.m., EST.

This is a prestige game for the players who are selected to play by the NFL coaches, an honor that has significance when talking next season's contracts with the club bosses.

Will Lead Off

Coach George Allen of the Los Angeles Rams, the West's coach, named Baltimore's famed Johnny Unitas to lead off at quarter back, but Green Bay's equally celebrated Bart Starr won't be long coming on the scene.

Coach Tom Landry of the Dallas Cowboys, the East's guardian, selected his own quarterback, Don Meredith, to start, but as with the other team, Frank Ryan of the Cleveland Browns will share the honors.

Generally the Pro Bowl games are wide open since the coaches don't have too much time to perfect defenses.

The West is favored by 3 points and part of this may well be due to the presence of eight of the world champion Green Bay Packers on its squad.

Beloit Downs Ripon, 78-68, Shares Third

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Beloit College held on to a share of third place in the Midwest Conference, Ripon stayed in sixth spot and Lawrence advanced its standing in basketball action Friday night.

The juggling of the loop standings threatened to continue today with Lawrence meeting Beloit, Ripon facing Coe, St. Olaf at Cornell and Carleton at Grinnell.

Knox, leading the league with a 5-0 mark, faced Monmouth today and could do no worse than having to share the lead with Cornell.

Beloit, raising its league record to 3-1 downed Ripon 78-68, with Jim Jones scoring 19 points for the Bucs and Bill Mikolyzik the same amount for Ripon.

Share Sixth

Ripon, 2-3 in the conference, shared sixth place with Lawrence after Beloit's victory and after Lawrence, paced by Brian Bock's 20 points, slipped past Coe 70-64.

Second-place Cornell, 4-1 in the league, downed Carleton 66-54 knocking the Carls out of a third-place tie with Beloit and St. Olaf. The Oles stayed in the running with Beloit defeating winless Grinnell 86-71.

In the College Conference of Illinois, Carthage, tied for the loop lead with Illinois Wesleyan, was idle.

Carroll fell to the CCI basement with a 0-4 conference record after North Central jumped from the bottom to fifth place with a 95-83 victory.

Lincoln's Cushing Caps Career With 30 Points

Eau Claire Memorial Shocks Wausau

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Bay West (10-1) had to fight for their lives to ward off old man out in a walk and Eau Claire Memorial came back in a breeze as the winds of change blew in Wisconsin high school basketball Friday night.

Rushing, the top player on the state's top-ranked team, ended a brilliant career at Milwaukee Lincoln by scoring 30 points and grabbing 21 rebounds in a 107-58 victory over Milwaukee Riverside. Rushing graduates soon.

The walkaway win extended the defending state champion's Milwaukee City Conference victory streak to 18 games and gave Lincoln a 9-1 over-all record.

While Lincoln was posing questions, Eau Claire Memorial may have been answering one: Who was going to succeed the Old Abes as champions of the Big Rivers Conference?

The Old Abes might well succeed themselves.

They shocked third-ranked Big Ten school Wausau 61-36 to tie the Lumberjacks for the conference lead and seriously threaten Wausau's standing in the ratings.

For the Old Abes, who have never lost a Big Rivers basketball title, it was their ninth win in 10 games. Wausau is now 9-2. It was the second victory in a week for Memorial over a ranked team. The Abes helped knock Wisconsin Rapids out of the elite with a win last Saturday.

In another major surprise, Sheboygan Falls snapped New Holstein's 27-game winning streak in the Eastern Wisconsin Conference, 72-64.

Supervision Ordered to Boy In Theft Spree

Youth, 15, Also Ordered to Pay
$96.20 Restitution

A string of offenses which included thefts of church funds, the theft of $400 from Xavier High School, shoplifting, house burglaries, beer thefts and check forgery netted a 15-year-old Appleton boy a year of supervision by the Outagamie County Welfare Department Friday.

Outagamie County Judge Raymond P. Dohr also ordered the youth to make his share of restitution totaling $96.20. Several youths were involved in some of the offenses.

The boy was one of four youths who stole the proceeds from a dance at Xavier High School Sept. 20. The other three youths appeared in Judge Dohr's court Friday morning.

On Dec. 21, the 15-year-old and a companion stole $46.87 from envelopes in St. Joseph Church and shoplifted a $15 sweater from the W. A. Close Co. in downtown Appleton. The boys fled the clothing store and were caught in a nearby restaurant.

Plans for Redevelopment of Menasha's downtown were outlined for city officials, businessmen and citizens at a Menasha Redevelopment Authority meeting in the Menasha Hotel Friday. Planner Jerry Pollak, of Victor Gruen Associates, urged an immediate start

Development Action to Win Skeptics

MENASHA — City officials, businessmen and members of the Menasha Redevelopment Authority (MRA), most of whom are caught up in a wave of enthusiasm as the city embarks on its downtown redevelopment project, have been warned they will have to cope with pessimists and skeptics.

Jerry Pollak, of Victor Gruen Associates, the city's planning consultants, told officials, businessmen and private citizens Friday, "there are always skeptics, people who are afraid of change." One way he recommended to convince the doubters, however, is to show them something is being done.

City Offices

Among an eight-step program to be undertaken in the next few weeks and culminate in a completed plan in approximately one year were his recommendations to start immediately with plans to expand the city offices into the adjoining bank building and to prepare for construction of a new library on the Racine Street Redevelopment Authority park site as the first structure in an eventual civic complex.

It was also revealed that an outside developer may already be interested in starting a downtown project, a matter officials intend to explore further and which, if successful, could help convince local businessmen and property owners of the possibilities for future development.

Pollak repeatedly stressed the importance of involving merchants and other citizens in the planning and keeping the public informed of the progress.

He also was careful to point out the rewards for a carefully-drawn plan if it is put into action. The businessman in other cities which have carried out redevelopment projects have realized increased business four or more times as great in volume as before redevelopment, he pointed out.

Tax Revenues

The city, likewise, may expect tax revenues at least four times as great as those presently received from downtown property, he said.

The planner also assured businessmen who heard his progress report on the planning program that the plan being proposed is designed to strengthen existing businesses and keep commercial development within the vicinity of the present businesses.

He was joined by officials in stressing that nothing will be undertaken until it has been discussed with the persons it would affect, and that any actions of the MRA would be after approval of the city council and in many cases after public hearing.

Civic Pride

Shoring up the pride of Menasha citizens in their city is essential, Pollak told the gathering.

Ralph Mc Clone, MRA president, told of having asked a Menasha High School class how many of its students hoped to stay in the city after graduation. None raised a hand, Mc Clone recalled.

Pollak commented that many citizens appear to "devoid of pride" in their city. This must be overcome, he stated, telling the businessmen its importance is "immeasurable in dollars and cents."

Cost of $72,000

Estimated cost of the main under the canal and the main across the Washington Street bridge is $72,000.

The main under the canal would be approximately 12 feet 10 inches below standard low water and about 3 1/2 feet below the bottom of the canal.

The corps of engineers must determine the effect of construction upon navigation. Other factors, including fish and wildlife conservation aspects, will be considered.

Any objections to the canal crossing must be sent to the Corps of Engineers office in Chicago by Feb. 2.

NEENAH — The nuns at St. Gabriel's members of the Franciscan Sisters of Christian Charity, Manitowoc, Friday, donned the new habit adopted by the community.

The new habit was designed as a response to Vatican council requests for sisters in the modern world.

This is the second major change in habit style the Franciscan Sisters have made since their establishment in 1869. The first change came in 1929. Many minor alterations were made since that time, but none changed the appearance of their clothing.

The wide sleeves, large collar, Franciscan cord, long scapular, white-bound faces, and covered foreheads are now a thing of the past for these Sisters.

Planner Urges Start In MAR Program

8-Step Plan Outlined; 2 Areas Listed

MENASHA — The city's period of "waiting for the planner" may be at an end. Friday, the planner said now is the time to move.

Jerry Pollak, of Victor Gruen Associates, spent a full day meeting with city officials, businessmen and interested persons. By the end of the day, he had outlined an eight-step program that will bring the Menasha redevelopment authority before the common council Feb. 6 to ask to have two areas earmarked for development through the MRA.

At the same time, Pollak said the city should go ahead with plans for a new library and expanding city offices. Both have been held up to await his advice.

Racine Park

In recommending prompt steps toward building a library and expanding city offices, Pollak also provided answers to two other key questions.

He said the Racine Street Park area should be reserved for civic development, starting with the library and later including other municipal facilities.

If accepted, his advice would end years of dispute between proponents of civic and commercial use of the land.

And, he said the city offices should be enlarged on the present site, expanding into the next-door bank building, to meet immediate needs, at "as low a cost as possible."

The project should be undertaken to meet the city's needs for another 10 to 15 years, after which much of the investment could be regained through sale of the building, enabling the city to build a municipal building on the Racine Street site, he said.

Passing Hat

The MRA was also urged to start immediately passing the hat around the city to raise funds through donations so the long-delayed project can continue without waiting for approval of federal aid in financing the master planning.

Pollak told the MRA to set a one-year timetable for raising the funds, with the planning program intended to be finished in that time.

$32,000 in Planning

The total cost of the planning, including an economic survey to determine more precisely the extent to which the city can support redevelopment, was estimated at $32,000.

This, however, includes the $8,000 already paid to the Gruen firm for the studies carried out so far and used by Pollak Friday in making his recommendations.

The MRA already has more than $5,500 in donations on hand. This leaves about $18,500 to be raised in the next year.

Push for Aid

Meanwhile, Pollak recommended that the city continue to seek approval of its application for federal assistance, which at present has been thwarted at the regional level in Chicago and is to be returned to state officials for review.

He said in an interview later that the funds spent before the request is approved could not be recovered from the federal government. However, the planning project outlined for the city in the federal application includes work to be done outside the immediate downtown area, where Pollak's recommendations were focused Friday.

Much of the work outside this area he told officials, must be done if the city is to qualify for federal assistance later to put the planning into practice.

He said the amount of money needed from local funds "is so small, an area like Neenah-Menasha can afford it." Espe-

Area Outlined

The planner displayed sketches of the proposed outlines of the planning area, concentrating on an area starting at Water Street and stretching from Center Street to Racine Street and north to Third Street, including Main and Milwaukee Streets.

When businessmen asked questions about the effects on their enterprises, Pollak was quick to point out the outlines are subject to revision to meet individual needs. He stressed the importance of careful planning with the advice of merchants and others involved before specific redevelopment work is undertaken. But, he said, the outer boundaries of the areas to be developed should be drawn quickly.

New Traffic Routes

The plan's basic proposals call for developing the existing downtown area, keeping as many existing businesses in operation as possible, while improving traffic routes and creating more order in the location and grouping of facilities. The central thoroughfare would be closed to traffic, and one-way routes would be established to circulate traffic around the business area.

Parking would be provided close enough to create a shopping center atmosphere. The closed Main Street would become a pedestrian mall.

Convention Center

A related project, which Pollak spoke enthusiastically about, is a convention center to show off the area's paper industry, on the present site of Menasha John Anderson, Jan Dupont, Jill Woodenware Co. buildings. He urged officials to begin attempting to interest industrial leaders in the project, which he said would be the only one of its kind in this area and which he expressed strong hope for, as a stimulant to outside interest in the area.

The program would take about 10 years to complete, he estimated. He told the businessmen that during redevelopment they could expect a "business as usual" policy. Pollak said past experience in similar redevelopment projects has shown tax revenues to the city and income to commercial concerns had increased by four times or more.

8-Step Plan

His eight-step program for immediate action included: designation by the MRA of two redevelopment areas, one under local efforts, the other eventually with federal aid; approval of the areas by the council, with permission for the MRA to submit a "survey and planning" application to the federal government — a first step in redevelopment; preparation of the application; meeting with private developers; begin MRA efforts to locate available land; designation of the Racine Street land as the library site; preparation of library plans, and expansion of the city offices into the empty bank building.

Menasha Utility Seeks Corps Okay for Main Application Filed for 16-Inch Line to Boost Island Pressure

MENASHA — The water and light commission has made application to the U.S. army corps of engineers for a permit to install a 16-inch water main under the Fox River canal at Center Street as a step toward relieving low pressure problems on the island.

The proposed main is part of a recommended $355,000 program to ease water pressure problems to island customers.

Other facets of the proposed program include a 16-inch main across the Washington Street Bridge, reinforcement or replacement of existing eight-inch distribution means under Garfield Avenue between Washington and Lawson streets with a 12-inch main, constructing a 750,000 gallon elevated water tank, and reinforcing or replacing the existing eight-inch main under Ahnaip Street with a 12-inch main.

Cost of $72,000

Estimated cost of the main under the canal and the main across the Washington Street bridge is $72,000.

Judge Orders Supervision for Appleton Youth

16-Year-Old Honor Student Linked With Summer Burglaries

A 16-year old Appleton youth, described as "nearly an A-student," Friday afternoon was placed on one-year supervision to the Outagamie County Welfare Department for his part in check forgery, house burglaries, car theft, a police chase, and a burglary at Riverview Country Club.

Most of the incidents, investigated by Appleton police, occurred last summer. The boy was found delinquent following a formal hearing before Outagamie County Judge Raymond P. Dohr who warned him, "If you are brought before this court again, it is very possible you would be sent to an institution."

The judge further ordered that the youth cannot apply for a driver's license for one year.

Split Proceeds
The court was told that the youth was involved with other boys in cashing about $197 in forged checks. Three checks of $33.45 each were cashed at Whitelaw and at a tavern in Reedsville, both in Manitowoc County. The youth and his companions split the proceeds.

He was with his younger brother, age 15, and two other youths when the stolen 1964 Cadillac they were in was involved in a high speed chase by Outagamie County police last August.

The youth who was in court Friday was driving the car, which skidded off the highway at U. S. 41 and County Trunk BB. He fled while police caught the others. He later turned himself in. The youths stole the car from a southside home.

Summer Burglaries
The house burglaries occurred in May, June and July, police said. In one instance, the youth and a companion crawled through a milk chute but were scared out of the house when the occupants returned. Wine, gin and cigarettes were taken during a house burglary on W. Atlantic Street May 29. Other youths also were involved in most of the incidents.

Judge Dohr ordered the boy to pay $164.85 as his share of restitution. He is to pay his share of the $180 damage done to the stolen car when it left the road; for money obtained through the cashing of forged checks, and for loot obtained in the house burglaries.

85 Per Cent Negligence, Jury Rules

Injured Appleton Cyclist to Receive $3,000 Settlement

A 48-year-old Appleton man Thursday afternoon was found 85 per cent negligent in causing an accident that resulted in injuries to a 19-year-old motorcyclist Aug. 28, 1965.

A 12-member Circuit Court jury ruled that Harold E. Schroeder, 831 E. Glendale Ave., was 85 per cent negligent, and Richard F. Schmidt, 1009 W. Marquette St., was 15 per cent negligent in connection with the accident at W. Glendale and N. Mason Street.

The jury further found that Schmidt was entitled to $3,000 for personal injuries he received when his motorcycle ran into the rear of the Schroeder vehicle as both were northbound on Mason. Because it was a split verdict, Schmidt can receive 85 per cent of the amount set by the jury.

Schmidt was hospitalized about a month following the accident. Schmidt and his father, Herbert, sought a total of $27,000 from Schroeder and his four to nine and parking violations decreased from 115 to 105. Other traffic arrests made in 1966 include one each for illegal passing, failure to stop for emergency vehicle and illegal use of license plates, six for and a half of testimony and deliberated an hour before driving without a driver's license. The case was heard before Judge Andrew Parnell.

Street Connection Problem To Get Transportation Study

Survey to Find Best Appleton Link With Town of Menasha

An attempt to resolve differences between the City of Appleton and the Town of Menasha concerning plans for a connecting street between S. Oneida Street and Memorial Drive led Thursday to recommendation for a region-wide transportation survey which may take three or four years to complete.

The "Calumet Street Extension" became an issue last year when Appleton's City Planning Commission proffered a plan to cut a connecting link from S. Oneida Street (U.S. 10) west to Memorial Drive along or adjacent to the city's corporate limits.

The town countered with a proposal which would have moved extended Calumet Street south until it would intersect State 47 at Foster Street.

Police Stricter but Accident Rate Climbs

Little Chute Reports 16 More Crashes In 1966 Despite Crackdown on Speeders

LITTLE CHUTE — Despite stricter law enforcement and additions to the department in the village during 1966, the accident rate in the village continued to climb, according to the annual report released Friday by Police Chief Robert Nechodom.

Police noted 107 auto accidents in 1966 compared with 91 in 1965. Of this 77 involved damages of more than $100 and 30 less than $100. The previous year 66 accidents involved damages of more than $100 and 25 less than $100. The number of drivers injured increased from 16 to 27, passenger injuries decreased from 16 to 9. No passengers were killed last year while one fatality was recorded in 1965.

Police made 199 speeding arrests during the year compared with 115 in 1965. Reckless driving violations decreased from seven to three, inattentive driving increased from 12 to 14 and arterial violations remained at 19 both in 1966 and 1965. Arrests for driving under the influence of intoxicants increased from four to nine and parking violations decreased from 115 to 105. Other traffic arrests made in 1966 include one each for illegal passing, failure to stop for emergency vehicle and illegal use of license plates, six for and a half of testimony and deliberated an hour before driving without a driver's license. The case was heard before Judge Andrew Parnell.

High Cliff Development Plan Wins Zoning Approval

Petition Clearing Way for Luxury Motel-Supper Club Now Goes to Calumet Board

CHILTON — The largest recreation land development project in the history of Calumet County and one which could be as elaborate as any in the Midwest, cleared one more hurdle Friday night as the County Park and Zoning Commission recommended rezoning 33.4 acres of land near High Cliff State Park.

The rezoning request — from agricultural to commercial — was made by developers of a planned $5 to $6 million recreation complex which will cover about 450 acres of property owned by Francis J. Schneider, route 1, Menasha. The recreation center is scheduled for completion by April, 1970.

The zoning commission recommended approval of the rezoning, as was expected, after only 10 minutes deliberation. The matter will now go before the Calumet County Board for final approval next month.

See No Other Changes
Attorney William D. Engler, Chilton, represented the developers at the meeting and told the commission, "This zoning should allow us sufficient latitude to go ahead with the existing plan."

Engler and Schneider said they did not see any further land reclassification in the immediate future but that such requests might be made at a later date to provide for additional expansion.

Originally, the petition for rezoning asked that only 26 acres be reclassified, but a survey by the State Conservation Department showed the area to be 33.4 acres, the developer said.

Decision Held Over
The decision was held over until Friday after the commission's public hearing Jan. 3. It was a foregone conclusion at the hearing that the commission would approve rezoning. There were no dissenters at the first meeting and public and official sentiment obviously favored the overall plan.

The rezoning is vital to the strategic "convenience center" area. It will be the site of a hotel, motel, supper club, resort, lodge, gift and novelty shops.

Snowmobiles To be Barred From Parks
The first move to outlaw snowmobiles in Appleton parks and Reid Municipal Golf Course has been taken by the park-recreation commission.

It requested the Appleton Council to adopt an ordinance which would prohibit snowmobiles in the designated areas.

"The commission does not feel these areas are suitable, and also, there exists a danger to life and property were they to be used in city parks," Wendall H. Smith, commission vice president, informed authorities.

"It is suggested further that perhaps the city has other property which could be made available and used for this purpose," Smith added.

The commission took the action at its Jan. 17 meeting. The letter will be referred to the council's welfare-ordinance committee.

Added Accommodation
The agreements also work in reverse, Wilbourne pointed out. Ticket agents in other cities for the trunk carriers can now issue tickets straight through to Appleton on Air Wisconsin. Previously, Air Wisconsin tickets had to be purchased at O'Hare when arriving on another airline, and baggage had to be re-checked.

Wilbourne said, "This puts us in a position where we can compete on equal terms with North Central Airlines which tries to serve the Fox Cities area by flying into the Winnebago County Airport, south of Oshkosh. We feel these agreements will definitely help to increase our business, but, more important, it will allow us to offer first class service to our customers that will match any other feeder airline in the country."

Official Approval
The agreements, after being ratified by the eight major airlines, were printed in the official publication of the Airline Transport Association (ATA). The agreements are automatic for certified feeder airlines, such as North Central and Ozark. However, since Air Wisconsin is a commuter airline, rather than a certified feeder, it had to "prove itself" before getting the recognition.

"So now," Wilbourne said, "we have been given the recognition that all certified local service airlines have."

Only a few commuter airlines in the United States have such arrangements, Wilbourne said, pointing out that TAG Airlines, of Detroit, one of the largest volume commuter airlines in the country, still is without interline agreements with trunk airlines.

Byrnes Asks Appleton To Delay Meeting on Pipeline Project Funds

Recommends Waiting for HUD To Complete Series of Reviews

Appleton officials, eager for action on the city's water project, late Friday afternoon were advised to delay arranging a Chicago meeting with the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) until a legal review of the city's grant request is completed.

In a telephone conversation, Rep. John Byrnes, R-Green Bay, told Mayor George L. Buckley that the grant request is undergoing a series of technical reviews at the HUD office in Chicago.

When the legal review, last in the series, is completed, Byrnes said, the matter will go to the regional HUD director, Edward Bruder.

Recommends Delay
Byrnes recommended that Appleton officials wait until the review is completed before arranging a meeting with Bruder to discuss the critical nature of the grant request.

Appleton's request for federal funds was delivered last year. The city plans to build a pipeline to Lake Winnebago costing between $4.5 million to $5 million. An addition to the filtration plant also is being planned.

The action Friday came after the city council Wednesday ordered Buckley to arrange a meeting with the regional HUD office to determine the cause for delay in forwarding the city's application to Washington.

Air Wisconsin Adds Prestige, Service

Eight Major Carriers Approve Interline Ticket, Baggage Pact

Hailing it as an event which "is going to make the airline," Air Wisconsin general manager Preston Wilbourne announced today the signing of bilateral interline ticket and baggage agreements with eight major trunk airlines in the United States.

The agreements, which went into effect today, allows the Appleton-based commuter airline to issue tickets and check baggage to any point served by the trunk airlines.

Wilbourne said the agreements have been made with United American, Trans World (TWA), Northwest Orient, Eastern, Air Canada, Braniff and Delta airlines.

Previously, Air Wisconsin could issue tickets and check baggage only as far as its terminal at O'Hare Field in Chicago. Customers would then have to pick up tickets to other airlines upon arrival at O'Hare and would have to personally attend to checking in luggage with the other airline.
